

A parish or town council must produce a consultation statement to accompany the draft plan proposal when formally submitting the document to the Local Planning Authority as set out in the neighbourhood planning regulations 2015 (2). This guidance note explains what a consultation statement is and the information you will need to include when drafting the document.

What is a Consultation Statement?

A consultation statement explains how the community has been consulted and their views taken into account during the development of the draft Neighbourhood plan. The statement must set out how the draft plan meets the legal requirements defined in regulation 14 (Pre-submission consultation) and 15 (Plan proposal formal submission) of the Neighbourhood Planning Regulations 2012, Town and Country Planning Act 1990.

The statement must explain how the parish or town council carried out the pre-submission consultation under regulation 14 and summarise any other consultation that has been carried out during the development of the plan, a summary of the results of that consultation, the issues or concerns that were raised and how the community's views have been taken into consideration when forming the plan.

What do you need to include in your consultation statement?

The consultation statement will need to set out how you have met the following legal requirements as set out in regulation 15(2):

- 1. Details of the people and organisations that were consulted
- 2. Explain how they were consulted
- 3. Summarise the main issues and concerns raised
- 4. Describe how you have considered these points in your draft plan

You will find more information about how you can meet regulation 15(2) below:

1. Details of the people and organisations that were consulted

You will need to provide details of the people and organisations that you have consulted during the development of the plan. You might want to produce a table (see appendix 1) which can be attached as an appendix listing the community groups and statutory organisations that you have consulted. The local Planning Authority will need this information when publicising the draft neighbourhood plan and associated documents during the six-week statutory consultation.

Please refer to the Pre-submission guidance note for a list of statutory consultees.

2. Explain how they were consulted;

You need to explain how you have consulted the local community during the development of the neighbourhood plan. This will include people who live and work in the area, businesses, community groups, local developers, land owners and other organisations. You will need to include a blank copy of questionnaires, posters or leaflets distributed during any consultation that has been undertaken during the development of the plan and include a summary of the results. You might want to include some photos of the consultation events. You need to provide details of each consultation that was carried out, when it was held, the type of consultation e.g. questionnaire, event, who you consulted and why they were consulted.

3. Summarising the main issues and concerns raised by the people or organisations consulted;

The main issues and concerns raised during the consultation stages of the draft plan will need to be summarised. This can be set out in the statement using a table (see appendix 1) format combining how the issues and concerns raised have been considered and what action was taken.

4. Describe how these issues and concerns have been considered and, where relevant, addressed in the proposed neighbourhood development plan.

You will need to set out how the issues and concerns raised during the consultation process have been considered when developing the draft plan proposal. You could highlight where the issues and concerns have been addressed in the plan by producing a table (see appendix 1) in the main document or as an appendix. You can then state what action has been taken to address the issue or concern that has been raised.

Drafting the Consultation Statement

To help you when drafting the consultation statement for your neighbourhood plan, set out below is a list of suggested headings and appendices that you may want to use. You might want to look at examples of consultation statements completed by other neighbourhood plan steering groups in Cornwall. You will find examples on Cornwall Council's Neighbourhood Planning Toolkit.

You need to make sure that you follow the Data Protection Act 2018 and the UK General Data Protection Regulation \(GDPR\) with the collection, processing and with the storage of personal data as part of the development of the neighbourhood plan.

There is a list of suggested headings for the Consultation statement below. A consultation statement template is available on the website to help you when drafting the document.
